JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

Thirteen-year-old Wilbur Maxwell has wanted a bicycle. He's dreamed of peddling through town, getting fond gazes from the girls, but he still can't persuade Mama and Papa to get him one. So, when Pop is called away for a week long business trip, Mom is persuaded to go with him for a sort of second honeymoon, and the house is left in charge of sister Connie and Betty Lou. Wilbur gets his idea. He'll open up a boarding house right here. Wilbur knows there's a frighful housing shortage, he knows people need places to sleep, and he knows for a whole week he can really clean up and just be rolling in bicycles.

So into the paper goes the ad, and that night the whole Maxwell house is crawling with people. First comes, a sort of walking encyclopedia; a lady who never says a word all through the play, next is a beat-up pug, and his wrestling wife, followed by an insurance salesman; and last comes Limpy McGuire and his wife, Nora. Now, every room in the house is full, Wilbur's doing a bang-up business, and then it happens, Mama and Papa Maxwell, at two o'clock of the next morning, come dragging home--Papa forgot his brief case. From there on out, it's one mess after another.
